=== BARBARIAN FEATURES ===

* Core Barbarian Traits • PHB-2024 51

* Rage • PHB-2024 51

* Unarmored Defense • PHB-2024 51
While not wearing armor, your base AC equals 13 + any Shield bonus.

* Weapon Mastery • PHB-2024 52
You are able to use the mastery properties of 2 kinds of Simple or Martial Melee weapons of your choice. Whenever you finish a Long Rest, you can change one of those weapon choices.

=== HUMAN SPECIES TRAITS ===

* Size • PHB-2024 194
Your Size is Medium or Small, chosen when you select this species.

* Speed • PHB-2024 194
Your Speed is 30 ft.

* Resourceful • PHB-2024 194
You gain Heroic Inspiration whenever you finish a Long Rest.

* Skillful • PHB-2024 193
You gain proficiency in one skill of your choice.

* Versatile • PHB-2024 194
You gain an Origin feat of your choice.

* Languages • PHB-2024 37
Your character knows at least three languages: Common plus two languages you roll or choose from the Standard Languages table. Knowledge of a language means your character can communicate in it, read it, and write it.

* Ability Score Increases • PHB-2024
When determining your character's ability scores, increase one score by 2 and a different one by 1, or increase three scores by 1.

| Increase two scores (+2 / +1) •
Increase one scores by 2 and a different score by 1.

=== FEATS ===

* Savage Attacker • PHB-2024 201
Once per turn when you hit a target with a weapon, you can roll the weapon's damage dice twice and use either roll against the target.

* Weapon Mastery • PHB-2024 52

| Greataxe (Cleave) •
Cleave. Once per turn, if you hit a creature with a melee attack using a Greataxe, you can make another melee attack with it against a second creature within 5 ft. of the first that's within your reach. On a hit, the second creature takes the Greataxe's damage, but without your ability modifier (unless the modifier is negative).

| Javelin (Slow) •
Slow. If you hit a creature with a Javelin and deal damage to the creature, you can reduce its Speed by 10 ft. until the start of your next turn. If the creature is hit more than once with this property, the Speed reduction doesn't exceed 10 ft.

| Cleave (Greataxe): 1 Action

| Slow (Javelin): 1 Action

* Tough • PHB-2024 202
When you take this feat, your HP maximum increases by 2. Whenever you gain a character level thereafter, your HP maximum increases an additional 2 HP.

CHARACTER APPEARANCE

ALLIES & ORGANIZATIONS

- Open-Minded – Logicians are driven by curiosity and an intense desire to learn everything that they can. People with this personality type tend to be receptive to new ideas and ways of doing things – as long as those ideas are supported by sound reasoning.
- Curious – These personalities are always casting about for new pursuits, hobbies, and areas of research. One week, they might be obsessed with geophysics, and the next, they might lose themselves in videos about guitar building. When inspiration strikes, Logicians go all in on their newfound interest, learning everything that they can.

PERSONALITY TRAITS

P ELEMENTARY MY DEAR WATSON - I love to analyze patterns. Without necessarily knowing how I do it, I often

IDEALS

I suffer awful visions of a coming disaster and will do anything to prevent it.

BONDS

Impatient – Logicians take pride in their knowledge and in sharing their ideas. When it comes to explaining their rationale, however, they aren't always patient. If their conversation partner doesn't follow along or seem sufficiently interested, Logicians may give up with a dismissive "never mind."

FLAWS

I was born under a red moon, screaming louder than the wolves howling in the dark. The elders of my Uthgardt tribe whispered that the spirits had marked me — not with strength or fury, but with sight. They were right.

By the time I could walk, I was already speaking to those no one else could see. Ghostly shapes in firelight. Voices on the wind that called me by name. My ancestors — proud warriors, wise shamans, even the mad ones — walked beside me. Sometimes they whispered, sometimes they screamed.

I grew curious. Not afraid, never that. I asked questions no one had answers for. Why do the spirits linger? What ties them to this world? What rules guide the dead? My tent was cluttered with bones, charcoal scrawlings, patterns traced in blood and ash. Some called me strange. I didn't care. The spirits listened.

Then came the visions.

They started as dreams: a great storm sweeping across the North, swallowing forests, stone, and sky. Our tribe, scattered to ash. The mountains crumbling into the sea. But dreams became waking horrors — flashes of doom at the edge of my vision, felt like cold iron behind my eyes. Every time I ignored them, something small went wrong. Every time I listened, something terrible was narrowly avoided.

Now I know: a great disaster is coming. Not just for my people, but for the whole of the North. And I am the only one who sees the pattern — the cracks forming in the world's bones.

I've become our tribe's guardian, but not in the old way. When I fight, the spirits rise with me. They guide my strikes, turn blades away from allies, and whisper warnings only I can hear. I don't rage blindly — I enter a trance of total clarity, as if time

CHARACTER BACKSTORY

Tymora

Alignment:€ChaoticGood
Alternate Names:€LadyLuck, Our Smiling Lady
Category:€None
Domains:€Trickery
Pantheon:€Faerûnian
Symbol:€Face-upcoin

Tymora is the bright-faced goddess of fortune, the one to whom gamblers and game-players pray in Faerûn. Our Smiling Lady is said to love none so much as those who gamble with the utmost skill and daring. Yet she is thought to watch over all who take risks to better their fortunes.

The battle cry of the followers of Tymora is "Fortune favors the bold." Someone might say words to Tymora before any endeavor in which a little good luck would help, but not when an incidence of bad luck might occur. (On such occasions folk pray to Beshaba to spare them from bad luck; praying to both is thought to anger both goddesses.) One common method of divining the future is to toss a coin to a stranger (typically a beggar) and ask if it's heads. If it is, the coin is left with the stranger as payment for Tymora's favor. If it's not, the stranger can choose to keep it (and the bad luck) or return it.

Those who favor Tymora - as distinct from folk who invoke her name by mumbling over the dice - tend to be daring sorts. Adventurers and gamblers make up much of their ranks. They all have the belief that what is good about their lives is the result of having both good luck and the bravery to seek it out. Tymora has worshipers among all sorts of folk: the dashing young noble, the risk-taking merchant, the daydreaming field hand, and the scheming ne'er-do-well.

Priests of Tymora and temples devoted to Lady Luck are scarce, since her faith tends not to stress a need for intermediaries: "Let the lucky man and the Smiling Lady suss it out," as the old saying goes.

Shrines to Tymora at gambling parlors aren't unusual, however, and sometimes such establishments attract a priest and effectively become temples.
